

DO NOT AGREE WITH KELLOGG

THE EXPERT'S REPORT ON THE NUUANU DAM MAY NOT BE ACCEPTED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS—SOME SUGGESTIONS ARE AGREED TO BUT THE MOST IMPORTANT ONE IS QUESTIONED.

Engineer Howland of the Public Works Department is preparing a report on the Kellogg report, for Superintendent Holloway. Both Holloway and Howland have studied over the Kellogg report, and they are far from agreeing with all of its recommendations, though some of them will be adopted. Howland said this morning that he would differ on many points, and Howland have studied over the the most important of the recommendations made by the expert. It appears that Kellogg and Howland and Holloway discussed the proposition and they think that Kellogg has failed to meet the objections they raised against his plans.

The greatest new proposition advanced by Kellogg, in fact the only large change in the dam as a whole, is the addition of a wall of stone or rocks, below the core wall. This is where the $25,000 extra expense comes in. The filling in of earth, according to present plans, can be done at a cost of 16 cents per cubic foot. The rock filling would cost a dollar and a half, and according to Superintendent Holloway, it might be a positive detriment.

"The earth filling beyond the core wall provides for keeping this wooden wall wet and absolutely protected from air," said Holloway, "and it is well known that wood so protected lasts indefinitely, while if any air gets to it, it decays. When Mr. Kellogg was here and suggested the stone filling next to this wall, I asked him how he would avoid the air difficulty, and he did not seem able to give any answer. Nor does his report explain it. I am in much doubt as to the value of the stone filling suggested. It is the principal change suggested by Kellogg in the dam plans.

"The recommendations as to the outlet pipe will be adopted. An fact we had discussed the changes he suggests before he came here, and I agree with his views. The correspondence between this department and the contractor, before Mr. Kellogg came here, shows our attitude in this matter. It also shows our criticisms of certain work which Mr. Kellogg also criticizes. We have constantly been after the contractors. The pipe work in question was directly in charge of Mr. Patterson."

Holloway said he didn't know how far the suggestions of Kellogg would be followed. He would await a report from Howland.

Howland was already at work on the matter when seen. He had studied out the drawings and report of Kellogg and said he would report on the report, to Holloway, probably on Monday. Asked if he disagreed with the expert, he said: "I think we shall disagree on a number of matters."

It appears to be very doubtful that some of the recommendations of the expert will be followed. His plans, it is said, are generally based on those of the Wahia dam, and his critics, incidentally, have important criticisms to make of that dam.

TWO SERIES OF TIDAL WAVES

PHENOMENA OBSERVED HERE AGREES WITH CABLE REPORTS OF TWO BIG SHOCKS.

The tidal phenomena observed here during the past day or two and supposed to be a result of the Valparaiso disaster indicate, two heavy shocks and thus are in accord with the general cable advice. One was about five hours after the other. The fluctuations are still continuing, but with diminishing force, and at noon today normal conditions were approaching. "There were two series of fluctuations," said Surveyor Wall this afternoon. "The first began at about 5:20 yesterday morning and the second five or six hours later. They are now slowly dying out."

HILO TIDAL WAVE DID SOME DAMAGE

KINAU REPORTS VERY HIGH WATER YESTERDAY—MAALAEA WHARF NOT WASHED AWAY.

The port of Hilo was visited yesterday morning by an unusually high tide. The water began to rise about 5 o'clock with the turn of the tide, and shortly before 7 o'clock had rushed up the Waiakea river with sufficient force to damage several scores. No other particular damage was reported.

The new s of the Hilo high water was brought this morning by the steamer Kinau. The officers of the vessel observed nothing unusual about the waters coming home, but at Maalaea Bay it was found that the wharf was still standing. The report of the wharf having been carried away was incorrect, although the high tide had washed over the wharf. A portion of the superstructure of the wharf at McGregor's landing was damaged.

A very heavy swell has been prevailing off the local harbor for several days past. The ship Astral has been rolling to an unusual degree.

PECULIAR DISTURBANCE OF WATERS ABOUT HAWAII

Very interesting information was brought this morning by the steamer Noeau regarding the action of the waters about the island of Hawaii on Wednesday and yesterday. The news was given by Captain Pederson and other officers of the steamer goes to show that there was evidently some connection between the peculiar action of the Hawaiian seas and the seismic disturbances in South America.

On Wednesday the Noeau was at Kukuhaele. The sea was perfectly smooth and there was no wind prevailing. The starboard anchor with 40 fathoms of chain, was down and the vessel had a stern line out to a buoy. Suddenly the vessel began tugging at the anchor. There seemed to be some sort of under current. It was very unusual and Captain Pederson could not understand the cause of the submarine disturbance. He had but a short time in which to give the matter consideration for the chain snapped and the anchor and 40 fathoms of chain were lost. At no time was there any strong wind prevailing, and the sea on the surface, was smooth. The earthquake that visited Valparaiso and western Argentina occurred on Thurs-

STACKABLE SENDS REPORT ON WORK

HAS CLOSED AN IMMIGRATION CONTRACT IN THE AZORES AND THE RECRUITING OF LABORERS FOR HAWAII IS NOW GOING ON—READY TO SEND A STEAMER WHEN ENOUGH HAVE BEEN RECRUITED.

Collector Stackable has closed a contract with an immigration company for securing laborers in the Azores for Hawaii, and has made a report to the Board of Immigration here. The report was accompanied by a copy of the contract, which shows that it is for sixty days and provides that it may be extended further if Stackable so desires. The sixty days' work will show whether or not the proposition is a success and if it is, there will be a steamer started here within that time, with a thousand or so of Portuguese immigrants.

Stackable states that he has secured from the immigration company the same terms as in the handling of immigrants as are given to the White Star line, which is also engaged in immigration business. Advertisements have been inserted in the various Azores papers, offering work in Hawaii, with passage here, etc., and other advantages in accordance with the offers made by sugar planters, and it is thought that the offers will prove attractive.

Spreckels To Rebuild His Home

SAN FRANCISCO, August 11.—The Claus Spreckels mansion, at the corner of Clay street and Van Ness Avenue, is to be restored at an expenditure of $300,000. Reid Brothers, the architects of the Call building, have been commissioned to superintend the rebuilding. According to the terms of the contract, it will be ready for occupancy within a year.

Immediately after the fire the Spreckels determined to lease the structure to a prominent retail dry goods store. While negotiations were under way Mrs. Spreckels visited the ruins of her palace and after surveying them grew sentimental and decided that as they had built the place for their home it would be much more in keeping with their original intention to reconstruct it than to rent it out as a store.

So she went to her husband, who immediately agreed with her and Reid Brothers were retained to carry out the work of restoration.

Before the fire the Spreckels mansion was one of the most pretentious homes in America. The magnificence of the exterior was outdone by the beautiful and artistic interior furnishings. The marble in the hall alone cost over $100,000. The rest of the house was furnished in corresponding splendor. But it took the flames less than an hour to reduce the famous art treasury, paintings, tapestries and carvings to heaps of ashes and charred stones. The house was completely gutted by the fire.

At present Mr. and Mrs. Claus Spreckels are visiting one of their ranches.

Bucking Sugar Trust

SAN FRANCISCO, August 11.—A peculiar situation in the sugar market of the country lies in the fact that the sugar trust of the Coast has been underbid 10 cents the hundred-weight on refined and apparently is not making any effort to meet the cut.

A man who is in touch with market conditions said yesterday: "Three days ago the California and Hawaiian Refining Company dropped the price of refined sugar 10 cents per hundred-weight under the quotation of its competitor, the Western Sugar Refining Company, and at the same time took steps to protect stocks in the hands of jobbers against the decline."

"In the New York market during the day refined sugar brought $4.75 per 100 pounds; in San Francisco the figure obtained is more than one-half a cent a pound less."

"Shipments of sugar can now be made to Missouri River points at a net gain of three-eighths of a cent a pound over local sales, and in consequence of this the Union Sugar Company and the Oxnard people are sending the entire output of their beet factories to the Missouri river, instead of marketing the greater part of it in the Pacific coast states, as they have heretofore done. The two big refineries of cane, however, consider the trade of the coast too important to be neglected even for an advantage of $7.50 per ton, and orders from local jobbers are being given preference over the more lucrative business offering in Omaha, Kansas City and adjacent territory."
